

Things I would have told my younger self...Developing resilience as managers

The age services industry has seen many changes over the last couple of decades in both the residential and home care sectors. From the introduction of the Aged Care Act through a range of funding models, accreditation, reform, consumer directed care, workforce challenges and now the launch of the Aged Care Quality Standards 2018.

- How do we navigate this era of disruption and change?
- How do we survive, thrive and future proof ourselves?
- How do we nurture our passion, empower ourselves and keep our sense of humour?

Join us for this interactive discussion as a panel of esteemed industry colleagues recount their challenges, achievements and experiences in an ever evolving sector and pass on a wealth of industry knowledge, as they hand over the baton to our emerging leaders.

We encourage current age service managers to attend the first of our breakfast series and bring along their team of rising stars to participate in this insightful networking and mentoring event.
